

User Agreement for Disbeaute LLC

Effective Date: September 1, 2023

Introduction:

Welcome to Disbeaute, your beauty education platform. Before you begin your journey with us, it's important to understand the terms and conditions that govern your use of our platform. Disbeaute is a space where creators can monetize their content, and it's essential to recognize that these creators are not our employees but rather treated as 1099 contractors for tax purposes. By using Disbeaute, you agree to abide by the terms outlined in this User Agreement.

1. Monetizing Your Content:

Disbeaute is designed to empower creators to monetize their beauty-related content while providing valuable education to our community. Creators retain their status as independent contractors, allowing them to share their expertise without being classified as employees of Disbeaute.

2. Copyright Concerns:

Our platform hosts a variety of content related to beauty education. For aspects of our service where creative material isn't transmitted over our network or system, and only payment, identity, and relationship information is exchanged, we do not accept notifications of claimed copyright infringement under applicable legal provisions.

3. User-Generated Content:

We emphasize that creators on Disbeaute maintain their status as independent contractors. This means they are solely responsible for the content they create and have the autonomy to manage their tax obligations as 1099 contractors.

4. Submitting Copyright Claims:

If you encounter concerns regarding copyright infringement on Disbeaute, we recommend seeking guidance from legal professionals who can provide advice tailored to your specific situation. In cases of alleged copyright infringement, we suggest reaching out to the creators directly.

5. Trademark Policy:

Understanding Trademarks: Trademarks, including those associated with Disbeaute, are identifiers for goods or services. If you believe someone is using your trademark in a way that could lead to confusion or misrepresentation, please contact us. We will assess your claim and take necessary action to protect your trademark within the context of our platform.

By using Disbeaute, you acknowledge and accept these terms and conditions. We value our community of creators and take matters related to copyright and trademarks seriously. If you have any questions or concerns regarding your use of our platform, please do not hesitate to reach out to us.
